PERANAKAN TILES GALLERY AND VICTOR LIM

娘惹 砖家

In the latter half of the Victorian and Edwardian era, thousands of suburban houses across Europe and The British Isles have widely used the Art Nouveau & Art Deco's movement with motifs predominately based on floral and geometric motifs for wall & floor.

Later, in the early part of the 20th century, many of these designs were identical or resembled auspicious Chinese symbolism and were used to beautify their houses, furniture, and other surfaces, which found favor with the affluent Peranakan community of Singapore, Malaysia, and Thailand. Soon enough, these tiles became a distinctive feature of these communities, and they began to be known and referred to as "Peranakan Tile."

The techniques and raw materials used to produce these Peranakan Tiles are no longer available, so they have become collector's items, prized for their exquisite designs, high-quality glaze, and durability. These tiles were manufactured mainly by H&R Johnson & Minton Hollins of England, Gilliot & Cie & SA des Pavillons of Belgium, Wessel & Villeroy Boch of Germany, Danto Kaisha & Fujimiyaki of Japan.

Hotelier turned tile collector; Victor Lim is Singapore's leading tile aficionado with a collection of over 30,000 antique tiles. Also, a specialist in tile restoration at conserved shop-houses, his passion for tiles led him to research tile making and restoration technology, and he is mostly self-taught on the subject. Being a proud Peranakan, Victor has a way of keeping his disappearing heritage alive. He began collecting these rare tiles and painstakingly salvaged from the old shop-house in Singapore, Indonesia, Malaysia, and Thailand, which demolished in the 70s & 80s.

Victor is currently on a mission to educate people on the precious Peranakan Tile, a fragile legacy that needs to be conserved for the generations to come. He is also currently working on getting UNESCO recognition for these tiles. In his Peranakan Tiles Gallery, a large number of antique Peranakan Tiles that are more than 100 years old for you to choose, and also able to fabricate any design that you like or choose, please do not hesitate to visit our website: www.asterbykyra.sg or call us at 6684 8600 for more details. Congratulations yourself - You are on your way to becoming an owner of a Heritage "Peranakan Tiles," and it aims to create awareness about this fragile legacy that must be conserved for generations to come.
